Britannia

REMOVALS, STORAGE AND INTERNATIONAL SHIPPING

When you move with Britannia, you can be sure that your home and its contents are in safe hands.

Whether you're moving in the UK or overseas, there might be a period where you require storage of all or some of your household goods. For as long as you need, Britannia will take care of your belongings for you as if they were our own.

Britannia companies have some of the best and most convenient local storage facilities available throughout the UK. Our bright, modern warehouses located nationwide, use a containerised storage system to minimise handling and keep your goods clean, dry and secure.

Britannia will collect your belongings from your home and load them into specially designed storage containers. On arrival at one of our purpose-built warehouses, the containers are handled mechanically into their storage space. Where they remain until you need them to be delivered to your property.

Can I store everything?

Most Britannia warehouses have special facilities to handle any items that cannot be stored in containers. Carpets, ladders, motorcycles, cars and caravans all receive individual attention and care.

Unfortunately, no plants, food or animals should be sent for storage. We are also unable to store precious items such as jewellery, deeds or money for you; nor can we store hazardous goods such as paint, aerosols or gas bottles.

If you are in any doubt, please consult one of our experienced staff who will be able to advise you on items which are unsuitable for storage.

Do I need to prepare anything for storage?

If you are placing your refrigerator or freezer into storage, you should defrost them about one week beforehand. Make sure your washing machine or spin dryer is clean and dry. Some electrical appliances require special preparation before being moved so you should seek expert advice in plenty of time.

Everything that goes into storage needs to be clean and dry, so you should start to prepare any outdoor or garden items for storage well in advance of removal day.

How will my things be stored?

We have a variety of storage solutions and will recommend the best method for you.

What if I need access to my belongings?

Talk to our pre-move surveyor about any items you may wish to retrieve from storage before others. We can then make sure that those belongings are easily accessible when you need them.
